Tim Brewster

Second-Year Head Coach

Experience

- 22-year coaching veteran
- Served under coaching legends Mack Brown, Marty Schottenheimer and Mike Shanahan
- Well-rounded coach with 15 years of collegiate coaching experience at Minnesota, Texas, North Carolina and Purdue and seven years of NFL coaching with the Denver Broncos and San Diego Chargers
- Coached in 10 bowl games and played in two at Illinois
- Position coach for NFL All-Pro Antonio Gates

"Tim worked with us for 13 years and is not only one of the best football coaches I've ever coached with, but he's also a great friend. He's a high-energy guy who has gained experience and been a part of winning programs at every level. He's had success as a high school head coach, as an assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator at two major college football programs and coached with two of the best NFL coaches ever in Mike Shanahan and Marty Schottenheimer."

– Mack Brown, Texas Head Coach

"He can do it all. From a football aspect, he'll X and O with anybody, but what sets him apart is that he has a personality, he has a vision and he's a guy who gets the most out of people. He's smart on how he delegates and he gets the big picture. He's been around a lot of programs that have won, and I think Minnesota will see in time not only will he recruit, he'll do a great job with the Xs and Os as well."

– Mike Shanahan, Denver Broncos Head Coach

"I think he's a terrific football coach. Interestingly enough, I wasn't exactly sure that pro football was where he would have a chance to grow and advance, but clearly he did, and he is one of the finest coaches I've ever been around. He's a great teacher. He's a very demanding individual, who gets the best out of his players. Tim also has extensive experience in the administrative aspects of coaching on the collegiate level."

– Marty Schottenheimer, NFL coaching great

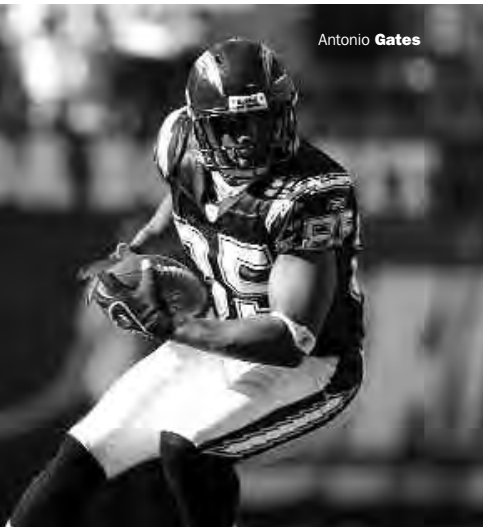

Mike Shanahan, a former Gophers' assistant coach (1979) returned to the U of M last year to visit his former Broncos assistant, Tim Brewster.

In his first season at Minnesota, Brewster helped Dom Barber become one of the nation's best safeties and an NFL Draft pick.

"Tim is one of the main reasons I developed and improved as a player. He saw my potential before anyone else did and he believed in me. I have dealt with guys who weren't honest with me, and when I was looking for a genuine guy, Tim didn't promise me this or that. He was realistic with me. As a coach, he taught that success comes down to the details of the game and that's what separates people."

Recruiting Philosophy

"I want kids to know that I care about them as people. If kids genuinely believe you care about them as people, then they're going to give you their heart and soul on Saturday afternoon. I go to great lengths of getting to know our football players, and getting to know them on a level where there is no intimidation factor. I don't deal with intimidation or fear. I don't think that stuff works. I want to create an environment that is conducive to winning."

"This class is phenomenal. Minnesota has to be one of the biggest stories nationally. I believe Tim is one of the Top 10 recruiters I've ever seen, and he's showing why in the class. Recruiting is all about perception, and nobody does it better than Tim. I've been covering recruiting for over 30 years and this is by far the best class Minnesota has ever signed and may be the best ever in school history. Tim has shown that you can recruit nationally by signing players from 16 different states."

Tom Lemming
CSTV
National Recruiting Advisor

Recruiting...Recruiting...Recruiting

- In his first season, signed the 14th-best recruiting class in the nation. Class is rated as the best in school history.
- Proven college recruiter at North Carolina and Texas under head coach Mack Brown.
- Inked the likes of future NFL stars Vince Young, Alge Crumpler, Chris Simms, Cedric Griffin and Bo Scaife.

About Brewster's First Recruiting Class

"Minnesota has proven with their 2008 class that their recruiting net is capable of reaching far and wide in areas they have not been to before with great success. This class is fast, athletic and could be one that Gophers fans look back on and say this class is what helped us get over the hump. They have upgraded at significant positions of need at QB, offensive skill and defensive front seven players."

Tom Luginbill
ESPN Scouts Inc.
National Recruiting Director/College Football Analyst

"Even better news is the way Minnesota is recruiting. Brewster gives recruiting the highest priority each and every day of the year. He and his staff work as hard as anyone, combing the country for future Gophers. To be successful, you need to recruit well consistently over time and that's exactly what he has in mind."

Jamie Newberg
National Recruiting Analyst
Scout.com

"There's no question that Minnesota's class goes down as the biggest surprise in the nation for me. We knew he could recruit when he was at Texas and other places, but the job that he did this season with the results on the field is amazing. He's surrounded himself with great assistant coaches that work just as hard as he does, and the end result is a class chock-full of impact guys that should help them out right away."

Jeremy Crabtree
National Recruiting Analyst

About Brewster's Recruiting Ability

"Coach Brewster is extremely intense and passionate about the game and he has been around some great football minds in his career. I have no doubt this will serve him well and he will be a great head coach. As a recruiter, he is extremely easy to talk to and he is a true friend. He seemed like just one of the guys."

– Chris Simms, QB, Tampa Bay Buccaneers

"I'm really impressed by Coach Brewster and the staff that he has put together. He has some very good recruiters. I think that it's a sign that Minnesota has entered its hey day as far as recruiting the next few years."

– Tom Lemming, National Recruiting Advisor, CSTV

"Tim will go after the best recruits nationally. He became one of the best recruiters in the country at Texas. I would be surprised if Minnesota's recruiting class next season isn't in the top five in the Big Ten."

– Tom Lemming, National Recruiting Advisor, CSTV

"From a recruiting standpoint, it's a very exciting time for Minnesota. He's going to bring a very different energy and vibe."

– Jeremy Crabtree, National Recruiting Analyst, Rivals.com

"Recruiters were always around but Brewster separated himself from the rest by wanting to know everything about you. He talked to my teammates, all of my coaches, people in the hallway, everybody. He went the extra mile."

– Cedric Griffin, CB, Minnesota Vikings

Make History Again

- Has reconnected with the rich tradition and history of Gopher Football, pledging to return Minnesota to its rightful place among the nation's elite programs.
- Has linked the Gopher legends of the past and recent stars to the players that will carry the torch in the future.
- Invited former stars like Tony Dungy, Bobby Bell, Carl Eller, Laurence Maroney, Marion Barber III and Judge Dickson back to campus to inspire the current Gophers while recognizing their past accomplishments.

NFL great Bobby Bell speaks to the Gophers after a 2007 practice.

"I heard him at his first press conference and he had such a high level of passion for football, and I am also very passionate about football, so I loved it. When he talked about how much he loved football I knew that he was going to be my kind of guy and then he started to reach out to former Gophers like myself and (Marion) Barber III, (Laurence) Maroney, (Thomas) Tapeh, David Williams and Bobby Bell. It started making sense to me that this is someone that I can really get behind and support."

— Darrell Thompson, Gopher great (1986-89) and NFL first round draft pick

"I had the good fortune to be here the day of Coach Brewster's press conference. From that very first day I was excited because I knew then that all the right ideas were there. The only thing that is needed now is the execution of those ideas. As former players, we just appreciate that our contributions are recognized and that we get the opportunity to help in it. To be able to go out and talk to the guys and tell them we went through the same thing – it makes it a little easier for them to do the hard work. To see young people grow is just exciting. It's wonderful. I am so thankful of Coach Brewster for embracing us and making us feel a part of his and this University's program."

— Judge Dickson, Gopher great (1959-61)

In The Community

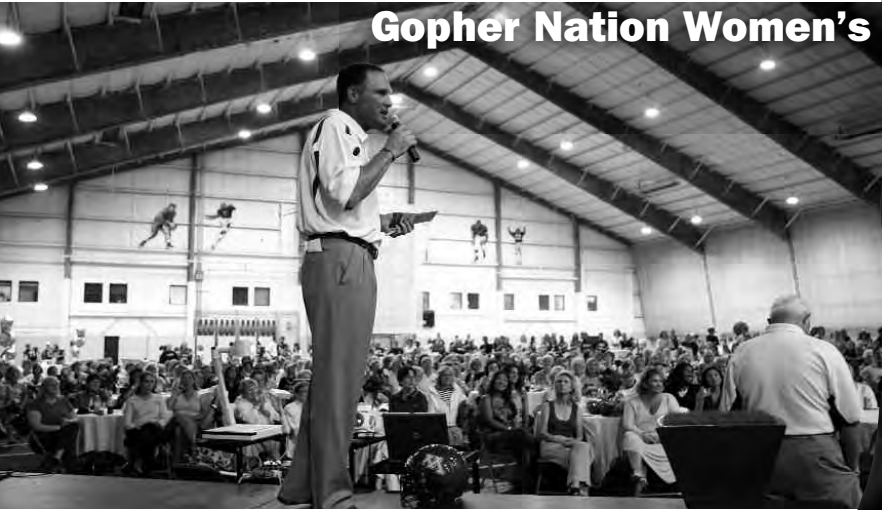

"The connection between our football program and the community is vital. When we say the community, it isn't just the local community, we include the rest of the areas in the state in that comment. It goes back to the message of togetherness we've tried to put out there in the community. Together, the state of Minnesota – not just the University of Minnesota, but the state of Minnesota – can accomplish anything by doing it together. We want everyone in the state of Minnesota to feel ownership in our program, so every Saturday morning in the fall, they start to get the butterflies in their stomachs, right along with us." — Tim Brewster

Golden Gopher head coach Tim Brewster is known as an outstanding recruiter. Prior to his first season at Minnesota, he instituted a program that helped him recruit in a little bit different way.

Brewster initiated the first Gopher Nation Women's Football Clinic. The event drew more than 500 women, including some who were new to the game and some who simply wanted to learn more about a sport and a team they love. Nonetheless, many new Gopher fans were found during the clinic.

The women were treated to hors d'oeuvres and then hit the field for personal instruction from Gopher players and coaches at a number of different stations. The clinic participants were also treated to a performance of the Rouser by the players and they got some insight as to what it took to run the Gopher program on a daily basis. The Gopher Nation Women's Football Clinic has become an annual event and is expected to continue growing.

GOPHERS WILL BE BRAND NEW

With the scheduled opening of the new Gopher Football stadium on campus in 2009, Minnesota will become the first Big Ten program in nearly 50 years to have a brand new on-campus stadium. While many of them have undergone significant renovations, Minnesota will be the only Big Ten institution with a completely new facility.

TCF Bank Stadium will also be the first Division I stadium built from scratch since Stanford opened a new stadium in 2006 and Pittsburgh and Connecticut added new off-campus stadiums in 2001. Only two on-campus stadiums will have been built by a BCS Conference school since West Virginia and Syracuse constructed new fields in 1980. Louisville built Papa John's Stadium on-campus in 1998 while it was a member of the non-BCS Conference USA.

The University of Minnesota is bringing Gopher Football back to campus. The new TCF Bank Stadium will be an important, symbolic center of campus life. It will be a place for students to gather with family, faculty, alumni, and friends for all-University events, enhancing the campus life experience in a way that cannot be replicated. The University of Minnesota is a valuable asset to the state, and a new campus stadium will bring pride to our citizens for generations to come.

In May 2006, the Minnesota legislature made the U of M's stadium a reality, approving a new $288.5 million Gopher Football stadium. The stadium will be a 50,000-seat, open-air facility offering architecture and style similar to what is already seen on campus. The University began construction on the facility during the summer of 2007.

The announcement of TCF Bank's $35 million commitment to this stadium energized the campaign by giving it a sense of reality and urgency. The Gophers have played football in Minnesota for 120 years and will continue to play here for 120 more. TCF Bank Stadium will be the new home for Gopher Football, a place for the campus community and Minnesotans to celebrate together.

Game Day

Pageantry... Rivalries... Atmosphere

Saturday afternoon Big Ten football games in the heart of the city...one of the best marching bands in the country...screaming fans...cheerleaders and dance teams...intense football action. With one of the nation's top recruiting classes ready to take the field and the opening of the new TCF Bank Stadium on the campus of the University of Minnesota, Gopher Football is sure provide plenty of excitement.

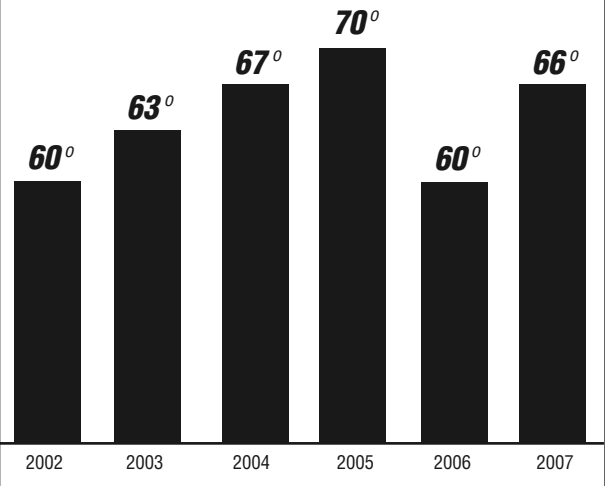

The Golden Gophers are playing their final season in the Metrodome in 2008. During the Gophers' 27-year run in the Dome, more than seven million football fans have flooded into the Metrodome to witness Golden Gopher football excitement.

In recent years, Golden Gopher football at the Metrodome has become even more exciting. A multi-million dollar plaza was constructed outside the Dome, complete with food and beverages, picnic tables and a stage for entertainment. Pre-game concerts, interactive games, appearances by the University of Minnesota Marching Band and other entertaining events attract crowds larger than ever. In addition, tailgating festivities take place in adjacent parking lots, just another part that helps define the atmosphere that surrounds big-time college football. One of the long-time staples of Minnesota football is the Golden Gopher Marching Band that boasts a tradition of 116 years. Under the leadership of professor Jerry Luckhardt, the 300-member band electrifies the crowd with pre-game, halftime and post-game entertainment.

The game day excitement surrounding Gopher Football will only increase in coming years with the construction of a new on-campus facility, TCF Bank Stadium, that will open for the 2009 season.

Another reason to get excited about outdoor football at TCF Bank Stadium in 2009 is the tremendous fall weather in Minneapolis. Over the last six years, the average gameday temperature for Minnesota home games has been a comfortable 64.3 degrees.

State of Minnesota

“My stated goal when I took this job was that we were going to recruit the state of Minnesota extremely hard. We are very passionate with what we are doing to reach out to the players in this state and wanting them to come play for us at the University of Minnesota and be Golden Gophers.”

“We’re going to do everything in our power to make sure that the top players in this state come to the University of Minnesota. We want to identify these players earlier, get on them and stay on them from the beginning. We’re going to make sure that every guy in this state who wants to play here and who we feel can help us win a Big Ten Championship and take the Gopher Nation to Pasadena, they’re going to come here and play for us.”

“My basic philosophy is this: we want to recruit the state of Minnesota, first and foremost. We would like the bulk of our players to come from the state of Minnesota. Then we would like to go out and supplement those players with players from across the country.”

“I think what we have done is create tremendous excitement about the ‘U’ here in the state of Minnesota. I think everyone is holding on and catching the excitement. I think they know that it’s a dawn of a new day here. We’re going to work really hard and have a lot of fun and I think that these kids are understanding that’s the way it’s going to be here at the ‘U’. We’ve met a tremendous amount of high school coaches in this state and they are very excited about how we work and in building a strong relationship with us. I think the state of Minnesota is very excited about the direction in which we are going. We’ve got this thing started and the exciting thing here is that we’re just scratching the surface. Each and every day I’m here, I’m more excited about being the head coach at the ‘U’ because it’s such a tremendous sell and I don’t think it’s hard at all.”

“The best part about playing for Minnesota was my family. I come from a big family and being able to have them come to our games and see me play was really special. It was nice to be able to see them following our games and to be able to share my collegiate experience with them.”

Darrell Thompson

Rochester, Minn. • former NFL running back
All-time leading rusher in U of M history

“The decision to stay at home, attend Minnesota and play football for the Golden Gophers provided me with a number of opportunities, both academically and athletically. It’s a great environment and I truly enjoyed my college experience. After graduation, the Twin Cities area is a wonderful place to live with lots of job opportunities. That’s why so many former Golden Gophers decide to make this their home when their college football days are over.”

Willie VanDeSteeg

Silver Lake, Minn. • Captain • Defensive End

“The University of Minnesota has a great football tradition and being a Minnesota kid, I wanted to help keep it moving in the right direction. There have been a lot of great players who have come through these halls. It was important for me to be part of that tradition and to play for my home state. It means even more to me now that we are embracing our former players because I will be part of that history some day. I can already say that I made the right decision to play here and have been part of great experiences that I will never forget. I hope that young kids look at the guys from Minnesota who came here to play and want to do the same.”

Adam Weber

Shoreview, Minn. • Captain • Quarterback

“For Minnesota guys like me or Eric Decker, the coolest thing about being a captain and being a part of the team, especially this year, is having a chance to help lead this team to a Big Ten Championship. Every fan I talk to is so excited about our team and can’t wait for the Minnesota program to get back to that point. Being a Minnesota fan all my life, having the opportunity to play on this team is an awesome experience.”

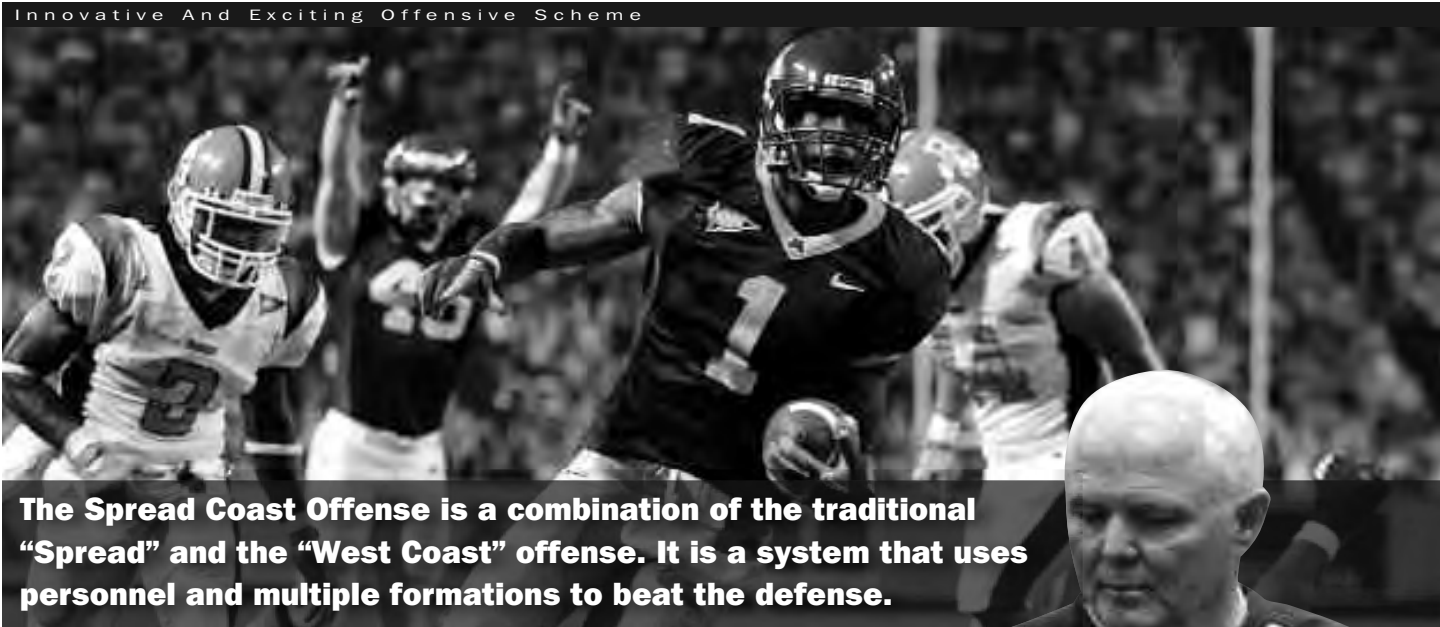

Thomas Tapeh

St. Paul, Minn. • Fullback • Minnesota Vikings

“I chose to stay close to home where my family is and because everything I need is here. I have gained a great amount of knowledge athletically that I never knew, and there still is more to learn. The University of Minnesota has broadened my horizons. Courses offer things I never knew I was interested in before. The academics were great and I had a fun time learning.”

Spread Coast Offense

The Spread Coast Offense is a combination of the traditional “Spread” and the “West Coast” offense. It is a system that uses personnel and multiple formations to beat the defense.

Keys To Minnesota’s Spread Coast Offense

- Formations are critical to keeping the defense off balance.
- Built in answers so the offense can adjust to the defense’s looks.
- Force the defense to play a certain scheme and then attack the weakness.
- Relies on the quarterback to make decisions at the line of scrimmage.

About Coach Dunbar

“Coach Dunbar is regarded as one of the best offensive coordinators in the country. It’s an honor to be coached by him. He’s one of the smartest football people I’ve ever been around. I’ve learned so much from him already. His offense is going to put up numbers and W’s and that’s what it all comes down to. But he’s also a great person and he really wants the best for every one of his players.”
– sophomore captain and quarterback Adam Weber

“Mike has done a great job for a long time and has continued that here at Minnesota. He did a great job at Northwestern and California with dynamic offenses, spread offenses. We got off to a strong start in our first year and the Gopher offense is only going to continue to improve with Coach Dunbar at the controls. We’re going to continue to do a lot of great things on offense.”

Attack & Swarm

The Minnesota Defense will use a disciplined approach to attack and swarm to the ball. In our system, discipline is defined by doing exactly what you’re supposed to do, exactly when you’re supposed to do it.

– senior linebacker Deon Hightower

“We have a profile of what we are looking for in our staff. First and foremost is a great person. Number two is a great teacher and coach. Number three is a great recruiter. Player Development

Minnesota Player Development Program

The University of Minnesota football program is designed to maximize our players strength, speed and football agility.

Our training regimen divided into three seasons:

- pre-season
- in-season
- off-season

We take the necessary steps to ensure each aspect of training receives it's proper attention. While strength training is essential to compete at a high level, we also like to emphasize speed development in order to ensure that we are able to compete with any team in the country.

NUTRITION
We are able to closely monitor the nutritional values of all the team meals, and ensure that our players are getting the necessary nutrients in order to optimize the ability to train and compete! Our goal is to ensure that our athletes are able to stay healthy and decrease the potential for injuries.

If an athlete is committed to eating right, training hard, and resting (sleeping) for the purposes of essential recovery, then there is no reason that he won't be able to maintain the highest level of physical conditioning possible.

Why Train With Coach Hill?

About Mark Hill

“Coach Hill definitely got me ready for my senior year. I was in the best physical shape and condition that I’ve ever been in before my senior season. It is also great to come back and work out with him, when I’m back from Houston. Coach Hill and his staff really know what they’re doing and they do a great job.”

- Dominique Barber,
S, Houston Texans
2007 NFL Draft pick

“Hard work beats talent every time when talent doesn’t work hard.”

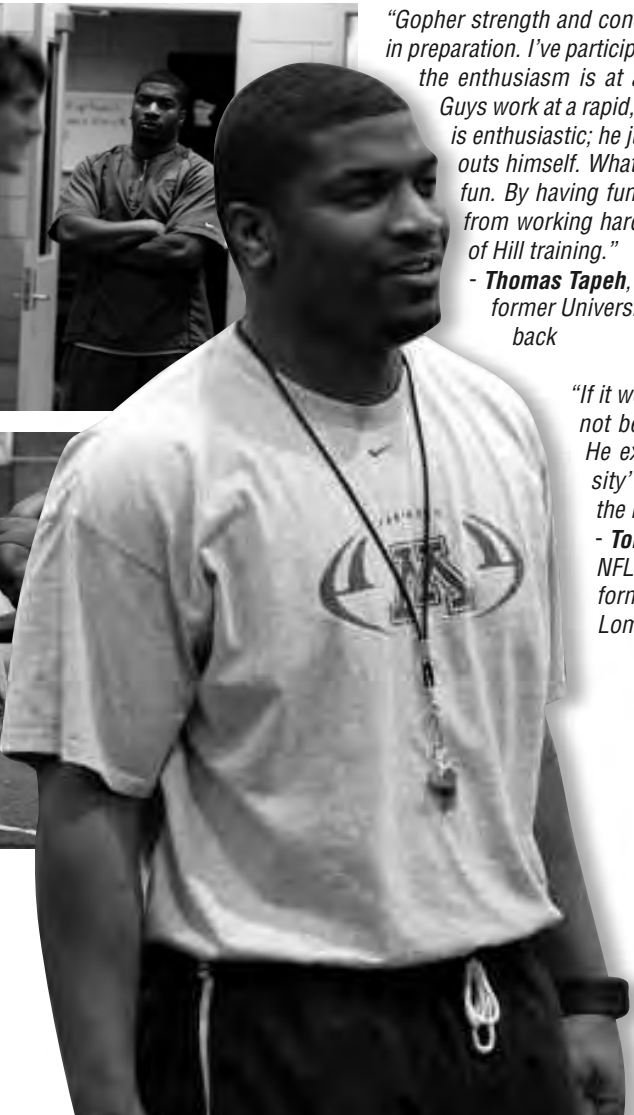

“Coach Hill is a big reason why I was able to come so far from my freshman year to my senior year. His direct work with me helped to get my strength levels to where they needed to be, and to develop a work ethic that I still have today.”

- Mark Clayton, WR, Baltimore Ravens
former Oklahoma star

“Gopher strength and conditioning has taken a change in preparation. I’ve participated in several workouts and the enthusiasm is at a completely different level. Guys work at a rapid, but efficient pace. Coach Hill is enthusiastic; he jumps in and out of the workouts himself. What I see is the guys are having fun. By having fun, they are working hard and from working hard anyone can see the results of Hill training.”

- Thomas Tapeh, FB, Minnesota Vikings
former University of Minnesota star running back

“If it weren’t for Coach Hill, I would not be the player that I am today. He exemplifies the words ‘intensity’ and ‘passion.’ He is one of the best in the business.”

- Tommie Harris,
NFL Pro Bowl DT, Chicago Bears, former Oklahoma star and
Lombardi Award Winner

Historic Rivalries

Paul Bunyan's Axe: Minnesota vs. Wisconsin

Governor's Victory Bell: Minnesota vs. Penn State

Little Brown Jug: Minnesota vs. Michigan

Minnesota Football is steeped in tradition over its 126-year history. From its first Big Ten title in 1900, accomplishments such as six national titles, including five in eight years (1934-41), to recent bowl game trips, the Golden Gopher program has instilled a great sense of pride in its fans, alumni and followers.

Golden Gopher Football also enjoys some unique traditions, such as competing for four rivalry trophies. The Minnesota-Wisconsin rivalry is one of the most prestigious and anticipated series in the history of athletics. It's the most played rivalry in college football history at 117 contests and the annual winner takes home Paul Bunyan's Axe. Some of Minnesota's other Big Ten rivalries are also among the top in college football. Minnesota faces Michigan for the Little Brown Jug, for the 105th time this season. The two foes began playing for the Jug in 1903. Border rivals Minnesota and Iowa have competed annually for the Floyd of Rosedale trophy since 1935, while Penn State and the Golden Gophers compete for the Governor's Victory Bell. Minnesota was Penn State's inaugural Big Ten game in 1993.

“The academic part of college life can be really stressful for a student-athlete. For us to know that we go to the MAC, talk to a specialist or a counselor and get solutions to our problems right away is a great resource. When you’re a freshman, coming in, you really aren’t sure what the workload is going to be like. But at the beginning, they help you set the pace for how things are going to be in the future, so you build good study habits. I’m a senior now and I’m still finding myself in the MAC a lot.”

— Senior offensive lineman Ned Tavale

Life Skills

“ We’ve made a tremendous commitment to reach out to children in the state of Minnesota. We want to grow a sense of state pride in these young kids. We want them to grow up dreaming about becoming Golden Gophers. I think it is vital to establish these relationships within the state, so these kids think the thing to do is stay home and represent the state of Minnesota some day. ”

— Head Coach Tim Brewster

Gophers In The Community

The people of Minnesota extend outstanding support to the Golden Gophers. Coach Brewster believes it is important for him and his team to return that support by giving of their time through volunteer and charitable activities. The Gophers are actively involved in the Twin Cities and University communities.

Among the many worthwhile activities that Minnesota football players regularly take part in are: Boys and Girls Clubs Kids in the City, the Big Brothers and Big Sisters holiday event at the Metrodome, the HopeDay Festival with HopeKids, promoting reading during Breakfast With the Gophers at area elementary schools, working with Special Olympics and visiting children in the hospital.

Many of these activities are sponsored by Minnesota’s CHAMPS/Life Skills program. CHAMPS is a program for student-athletes to develop individual skills necessary to lead successful lives and become leaders in their communities and in the nation.

Champs/Life Skills Program History

In 1991, the NCAA Foundation initiated efforts to create a total development program for student-athletes. Through the collaborative efforts of the NCAA Foundation and the Division I-A Athletic Director’s Association, the CHAMPS/Life Skills Program (Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success) was created. Today, the NCAA Education Outreach staff oversees the development of the program, offering services, support and programs to participating institutions throughout the year. The CHAMPS/Life Skills Program is supported through the promotional and financial efforts of the NCAA Foundation and the NCAA national office.

PEYTON OWENS
Director of CHAMPS/Life Skills

University of Minnesota Life Skills Program

The Life Skills Program at the University Of Minnesota includes many programs all designed to help make the student-athlete’s experience a positive one. The CHAMPS/Life Skills program is an NCAA sponsored program designed to focus on the total development of the student-athlete. Part of the mission of the Athletic Department is to encourage student-athletes to achieve excellence in their academic and athletic pursuits.

In an effort to assist our student-athletes further, the program is designed to give a comprehensive approach to providing educational experiences and services which focus on the individual. We presently utilize: a freshman orientation course, personal development programs, Golden Career Opportunities, various community outreach efforts, and our Student Athlete Advisory Committee (S.A.A.C.) to impact the lives of our young men and women.

Gopher involvement in the CHAMPS/Life Skills Program helps student-athletes enhance the quality of their experience here within the university setting. We are also supplied with instructional materials and supplemental resources which support our student-athletes’ development within the CHAMPS/Life Skills Commitment Statements’ five key areas: academic excellence, athletic excellence, personal development, career development, and community service.

The campus in Minneapolis is located just a few minutes east of downtown. Nestled along the bluffs of the Mississippi River, buildings in Minneapolis range from the ultramodern Weisman Art Museum to the classic and stately Northrop Memorial Auditorium. A few miles to the east in St. Paul, rolling hills and quiet lawns create a more rural setting. The Minneapolis and St. Paul parts of the campus are connected by a convenient campus shuttle system.

The University of Minnesota also provides a life beyond the campus like few other Big Ten universities can. The dynamic communities of Minneapolis and St. Paul offer something for everyone—a nationally-recognized arts and theater community, a thriving entertainment industry, a host of Fortune 500 companies, four glorious seasons of outdoor recreation, exciting professional sports, shopping and restaurants for every taste, all located close to campus.

Founded in 1851, seven years before the territory of Minnesota became a state, the University is the largest in the state and touches the lives of thousands of people every day through its teaching, research and service.

Coaching Staff

head coach • second season

In just one year as the head football coach at the University of Minnesota, Tim Brewster has combined his unique brand of positive energy with a well-earned reputation as one of the nation's top recruiters to rejuvenate the hopes of Gopher Nation.

Brewster, who is in his second year at the helm of the program after being named Minnesota's 26th head football coach on Jan. 17, 2007, has never been afraid to work hard or think big.

That was proven out this past February, when Brewster and his staff signed a consensus top-25 recruiting class that some experts even rated among the nation's top 15. The significance of this accomplishment would be difficult to overstate at one the nation's traditional recruiting powers let alone at Minnesota, where the average Rivals ranking for the Gophers' previous six recruiting classes was 54th.

The renewed emphasis on recruiting may be the most visible phase of Brewster's plan to help Minnesota football make history again, but it's just one building block of a blueprint he developed while helping Mack Brown turn North Carolina from ACC doormat into a national power and rebuild Texas into one of the country's elite programs.

Brewster came to Minnesota after spending the previous five years as an assistant coach in the National Football League, including the 2005 and 2006 seasons as the tight ends coach of the Denver Broncos.

In addition to his productivity as a college recruiter, Brewster has also built a strong reputation for developing players during his 22-year coaching career.

In his first season at Minnesota, Brewster mentored freshman quarterback Adam Weber, who broke nearly all of the Gophers' single-season passing and total offense record during the 2007 season.

Brewster also helped coach safety Dominique Barber to All-Big Ten accolades during his inaugural campaign in the Twin Cities and personally worked with punter Justin Kucek, expanding his repertoire with the effective and efficient flop punt and helping him evolve into one of the conference's top punters.

On the professional level, Brewster helped rookie Tony Scheffler lead the NFL in average yards per reception by a tight end with a 15.9-yard average. His tight ends also contributed to the Broncos finishing fourth in the AFC in rushing yards per game (134.5) during 2006.

Brewster's tight ends helped the Broncos post a 13-3 record and capture the AFC West title in 2005 en route to advancing to the AFC Championship Game. Jeb Putzier ranked fourth among NFL tight ends (2nd in AFC) in yards per reception average, posting a 13.0-yard average on 37 receptions for 481 yards. The blocking of Brewster's unit helped the club rank second in the NFL in rushing (158.7 ypg.) and place third in the league in fewest sacks allowed (23).

In 2005, Brewster also tutored rookie tight end Wesley Duke, who played basketball only in college and was an undrafted free agent. Duke caught a 1-yard touchdown pass for his first career catch at Buffalo (12/17/05) and started for the Broncos in the AFC Championship Game against the Steelers (1/22/06).

Brewster served as the San Diego Chargers tight ends coach from 2002-04 and held additional responsibilities as the club's assistant head coach for the 2004 season. He oversaw the rapid development of Antonio Gates, who like Duke, played basketball only in college and was an undrafted free agent.

Under Brewster, Gates would earn first-team All-Pro honors in 2004 from the Associated Press and was a Pro Bowl selection after playing only his second year of football since high school. He set an NFL single-season touchdown record (13) for tight ends in 2004 while ranking third in receiving yards (964) and fourth in receptions (81) among NFL tight ends.

In 2003, Gates' first NFL season, Brewster helped the young talent rank third for the Chargers with 24 receptions. While his tight ends showed progress as pass catchers, Brewster's unit was adept at blocking in a potent rushing attack that gained more than 2,100 yards on the ground in each of his three seasons with the team.

Before working for San Diego, Brewster coached collegiately for 14 years at the Division I-A level. Brewster enjoyed tremendous success as tight ends coach at the University of Texas (1998-2001) and as tight ends coach at the University of North Carolina (1989-97), where he also coached special teams and was the Tar Heels' recruiting coordinator. He worked on Brown's staffs at both schools and developed six tight ends who signed NFL contracts, including four who were selected in the NFL Draft.

Bowl Games Coached [10]

2001 Holiday Bowl (Texas), 2000 Holiday Bowl (Texas), 2000 Cotton Bowl (Texas), 1999 Cotton Bowl (Texas), 1998 Gator Bowl (North Carolina), 1997 Gator Bowl (North Carolina), 1995 Carquest Bowl (North Carolina), 1994 Sun Bowl (North Carolina), 1993 Gator Bowl (North Carolina), 1993 Peach Bowl (North Carolina)

In four years at Texas, Brewster's tight ends played a key role in the team advancing to a bowl game each season (two Cotton Bowls, two Holiday Bowls). He tutored two tight ends who earned All-Big 12 Conference honors, including 1998 first-team selection Derek Lewis, and coached two players who signed NFL contracts in Lewis and Bo Scaife, who was drafted in the sixth round by Tennessee in 2005.

Brewster's tight ends at Texas blocked for a 1,000-yard rusher in each of his four seasons at the school, highlighted by Ricky Williams' 2,124-yard (sixth-most in NCAA history) Heisman Trophy-winning season in 1998. Brewster developed Lewis into a scoring threat as well in 1998 as the tight end finished the year second on the Longhorns with six touchdown receptions in a season that ended with a Cotton Bowl win.

He honed the skills of a pair of converted Longhorns defensive ends in 1999 as well as true freshman Scaife, helping the tight ends total 24 receptions for 267 yards with four touchdowns. Scaife became a 2001 honorable mention All-Big 12 selection under Brewster's tutelage only one year after missing the entire season with a major knee injury.

In nine years at North Carolina, Brewster mentored four All-Atlantic Coast Conference selections at tight end and helped the school advance to six consecutive bowl games from 1992-97. As recruiting coordinator, his efforts secured the talent that helped the 1997 team go 11-1 and win the Gator Bowl.

Brewster, who served as a volunteer assistant at North Carolina for the 1989 season before earning a full-time position in 1990, oversaw the development of four Tar Heels tight ends who signed NFL contracts: Alge Crumpler (Falcons, 2001-present), Freddie Jones (Chargers, 1997-2001; Cardinals, 2002-04), Greg DeLong (Vikings, 1995-98; Ravens, 1999; Jaguars, 2000) and Deems May (Chargers, 1992-96; Seahawks, 1997-99). Crumpler and Jones were second-round choices in the NFL Draft while May was a seventh-round selection.

Brewster guided Crumpler to second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference distinction and honorable mention All-America accolades from Football News as a sophomore in 1997. He also mentored Jones to a first-team All-ACC selection in 1995 and again in 1996 when Jones set a North Carolina single-season record for receptions by a tight end (32) to garner third-team All-America honors from Football News.

His tight ends at North Carolina were critical to the team's rushing success as their blocking helped clear the way for five different 1,000-yard seasons, including Natrone Means' back-to-back 1,000-yard years in 1991 and '92. DeLong, a first-team All-ACC tight end in 1994, twice earned ACC Lineman of the Week honors for his blocking in 1996 under Brewster's tutelage.

Brewster spent 1987-88 as head coach at Central Catholic High School in Lafayette, Ind., directing a wide-open offense that won 15 of 23 games during that period. He developed Indiana's passing leader in both of his seasons as head coach.

He began his coaching career in 1986 at Purdue University, where he coached tight ends and offensive tackles as a graduate assistant.

A former two-time All-Big Ten Conference selection at the University of Illinois, Brewster led the nation's tight ends in receiving in 1983 and captained the Illini to the 1984 Rose Bowl vs. UCLA. Brewster, who graduated from Illinois with a bachelor's degree in political science, played in the training camps of the New York Giants (1984) and Philadelphia Eagles (1985).

Brewster was born October 13, 1960, in Phillipsburg, N.J. He and his wife, Cathleen, have three sons: Eric, Clint and Nolan.

Brewster's Philosophy

ON WHAT HE LOOKS FOR IN RECRUITING:

"The No. 1 thing we're looking for in our players is toughness. Second, we're looking for passion, and third we are looking for smart guys. The fourth thing we always want to address is that we're looking for playmakers. Regardless of position, we need playmakers on this football team. We want guys who we feel can do something with the ball and score points."

ON RECRUITING IN MINNESOTA:

"My stated goal when I took this job was that we were going to recruit the state of Minnesota extremely hard and we are very passionate with what we do to reach out to the players in this state. We want them to come play for us at the University of Minnesota and be Golden Gophers."

"We're going to do everything in our power to make sure that the top players in this state come to the University of Minnesota. We want to identify these players early, get on them and stay on them from the beginning. We're going to make sure that every guy in this state who wants to play here and who we feel can help us win, they're going to come here and play for us."

ON RECRUITING NATIONALLY:

"There are 16 states represented in this year's class and the exciting thing is the tremendous reception we are seeing and continue to see from kids in all regions of the country. These players are excited about what's going on here at Minnesota."

ON PASSION:

"What we're doing is creating a tremendous excitement about the U here in the state of Minnesota. We're going to work real hard and have a lot of fun and I think that these kids are understanding that's the way it's going to be here at the U. Each and every day, I'm more excited about being the head coach at the U, because it's such a tremendous sell and I don't think it's a hard sell at all."

ON INTENSITY:

"My staff is a reflection of me. I want our team to be tough, I want our team to be passionate and that is how we coach. I love our staff and how they go about their business each and every day. We are asking our football team to play to a certain level each and every day and we as coaches have to do the same thing. We have to reach that level and push that bar every day. That is the challenge I have issued to the staff. You can't come out one day and be jacked up running down the field with a guy and the next day not do it. You have to be who you are but you have to be consistent with how you bring it."

ON ACADEMICS:

"What are we wanting out of our guys? We want our guys to graduate, first and foremost. We want them to graduate. We want them to represent themselves and their family in fine fashion every day. We want to win a Big Ten championship."

ON DEFENSE:

"We want to attack the ball and swarm to it. We want to stop the run and become a physical defense. These are simple concepts, but those concepts are what winning defensive football is all about. We plan to limit explosive plays and create turnovers. Those are the things your defense needs to do to help your football team win."

ON OFFENSE:

"We want to force the defense to play a particular scheme and then attack the weaknesses of that scheme. We believe the Spread Coast offense gives us the ability to do that through the use of our personnel and formations. We're going to build on last year and continue to do a lot of great things on offense."

ON SPECIAL TEAMS:

"A lot of people give lip service to being a good special teams unit. At Minnesota, we call it special forces. What we have done is made the commitment -- time-wise and field-wise -- to the fact that guys aren't going to get a rest when it comes to our special teams. We really want to be good on special teams. I would like to see us be the best special teams unit in the country. The big thing is that our best special teams players are going to play on the special forces."

Stadium History

MEMORIAL STADIUM 1924-1981

Opened on Oct. 4, 1924, Memorial Stadium served as the home of the Golden Gophers for 57 years. The stadium was dedicated to the 3,527 university workers and graduates who served in World War I, 98 of whom died in service. Built on approximately 11 acres where the current University Recreation Center, Aquatic Center and McNamara Alumni Center stand today, Memorial Stadium had 52,736 permanent seats but could seat over 56,000. The horseshoe-shaped stadium also served as the home track and field facility. With the addition of temporary bleacher seating, more than 60,000 fans could fit into Memorial Stadium as a stadium-record 66,284 fans watched Minnesota face Purdue on Nov. 18, 1966.

The stadium, which took seven months to construct, cost $572,000 to build. More than 475 workers were employed for the construction that required more than 1.4 million feet of lumber, one million bricks and 90,000 sacks of cement. Minnesota played its first game in Memorial Stadium on Oct. 4, 1924, defeating North Dakota 14-0. Tickets for the inaugural game were just one dollar.

The Golden Gophers had a stellar record in Memorial Stadium, including 12 unbeaten seasons at home. They didn't suffer a losing season at home from the building's inception in 1924 until 1950, a span of 26 years.

Memorial Stadium was changed to artificial turf in 1970 but then switched back to natural grass in 1977. The stadium was demolished in 1989 and 2,000 of the original bricks were used in the building of Mariucci Arena. University officials debated renovation of Memorial Stadium, but instead opted for a move to the Metrodome.

GREATER NORTHPROP FIELD 1899-1923

Named in honor of University President Cyrus Northrop, Greater Northrop Field opened its doors in 1899. Prior to the stadium's construction, the University of Minnesota played on a field south of the Armory. The grandstand consisted of chairs around the sidelines. When rates for a downtown stadium increased, the University found it a necessity for an enclosed stadium on the campus.

Built in front of Pillsbury Hall, which still stands today, the Northrop Field originally featured a nine-foot high board fence built by the student body. A quarter-mile track ran around the playing field. Alfred Pillsbury organized the building of a massive brick fence that was built around the original grandstand that made Northrop Field unlike any other stadium in the country at the time. The grandstand seated 8,000 fans and was 33 rows high. Additional seating in the end zones added to the seating capacity.

Minnesota played its first game at Northrop Field in November of 1899 against Northwestern where it suffered an 11-5 defeat. The last game was played in 1923 when Minnesota beat Iowa 20-7. Perhaps the most memorable game was a 6-6 tie with Michigan when an over capacity 20,000 fans crowded into the stadium.

H.H.H. METRODOME 1982-2008

The Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, home of Golden Gopher football since 1982, is the nation's largest air-supported, multiple-use facility. It has been the site of two World Series, a Super Bowl and two NCAA Final Fours, and has kept over five million college football fans warm as they watched and cheered University of Minnesota football. The Gophers will play their final season in the Dome in 2008 before heading back to campus for the opening of TCF Bank Stadium.

In addition to serving as the home facility for the Golden Gophers, the Metrodome is home to the Minnesota Vikings and Twins. In 1989, it also served as home to the Timberwolves, who set the all-time NBA attendance record in their inaugural season.

The Metrodome is located in downtown Minneapolis, just minutes away from the University campus. Its seating capacity is listed at 64,172, but more than 65,000 fans have packed the place for Minnesota football, including a crowd of 65,089 for the game against border-rival Wisconsin in 2005. A stadium record 65,184 attended the Minnesota-Iowa game in 2002.

History

1934 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The Golden Gopher football program is one built strongly on tradition. After winning the first-ever Big Nine team title in 1900 and outscoring opponents by an incredible 618-12 margin in 1903, the University of Minnesota football team finally won its first national championship in 1934.

Under the leadership of third-year coach Bernie Bierman, the Golden Gophers averaged 33.7 points during the 1934 campaign, relying heavily on a potent running attack. The running game accounted for nearly 295 of the 325 yards the Maroon and Gold averaged each game. The Golden Gophers were equally productive on the defensive side of the ball, shutting-out four of their eight opponents, while holding them to a meager 4.7 points and 103 yards per game.

Three players led Minnesota while earning All-America honors — Francis "Pug" Lund, Bill Bevan and Butch Larson, who earned the honor for a second straight year. Larson became only the fourth Golden Gopher to earn All-America status for two straight years, and is among 14 players to date in Minnesota history to earn such a distinction. In addition to Lund, Bevan and Larson, the Golden Gophers featured three more All-Big Ten players. Perhaps the biggest key to Minnesota's success, however, was a running attack which saw eight different players score touchdowns during the season, led by Stan Kostka with nine touchdowns, including a four-touchdown game.

The talented Golden Gopher team cruised through the first two games of the season with a 56-12 pounding of North Dakota State and a 20-0 victory over Nebraska.

After two weeks of rest, Minnesota looked flat against the Pittsburgh Panthers. They trailed 7-0 after three quarters and were destroyed in nearly every statistical category. The Golden Gophers' hopes for a perfect season were fading. Minnesota was down, but they were not beaten. In the fourth quarter, Larson took the game over by recovering a fumble which led to a touchdown. On the very next series, he threw the winning pass into the end zone. Minnesota's dream for a title refused to die.

The following weekend, the Golden Gophers rebounded in style by crushing the rival Iowa Hawkeyes in Iowa City, Iowa, 48-12. Head Coach Bernie Bierman couldn't have been happier with his team's reaction to their sub-par performance against Pittsburgh. The Golden Gophers held the Hawkeyes to 129 total yards. Minnesota, on the other hand, had little problem moving the ball as they racked up an astounding 514 yards on offense, all of them coming from the running game. Minnesota was led by the exceptional performance of Kostka, who had another outstanding game, scoring three touchdowns, as well as Julius Alfonse, who rushed for two scores.

After dismantling Iowa, Minnesota was still eager to get back on the field. The next opponent was Michigan, and the Golden Gophers sought revenge. They had not brought the Little Brown Jug back to Memorial Stadium since 1927. Michigan came into Minneapolis sporting a 1-3 record and as the game progressed, proved that a vast talent gap existed between the two teams. Minnesota breezed by the Wolverines 34-0 and the Golden Gopher defense continued to impress crowds as they held Michigan scoreless on a mere 56 total yards for the game. In the meantime, the Maroon and Gold running attack never lost a step as five different players scored touchdowns.

The Golden Gophers continued to roll over opponents in the ensuing weeks, beating Indiana 30-0 and Chicago 35-7. Indiana gained a grand total of zero yards against the smothering Minnesota defense, while Chicago was able to manage 82 yards. With four solid games since the Pittsburgh scare, Bierman and the Golden Gophers had every right to be confident about their chances of winning a conference and national championship heading into Wisconsin.

The Badgers were not a high-scoring team, nor did they allow teams many touchdowns. On this day, however, the Golden Gophers flexed their muscle and scored 34 points against a defense that had only allowed 50 previously. With the victory over Wisconsin, Minnesota wrapped up its perfect season and first national championship.

Bernie Bierman started his fourth season as the head football coach at Minnesota in 1935. After leading the Golden Gophers to their first national championship in 1934, expectations ran high for both Bierman and the team.

While the Golden Gophers were hurt by the graduation of three All-Americans from the 1934 season, three other players stepped up their play to earn the same honor in 1935. Tackles Ed Widseth and Dick Smith, along with guard Bud Wilkinson earned All-America honors, while quarterback Babe LeVoi and fullback Sheldon Beise joined the All-America threesome on the All-Big Ten team.

Minnesota opened the 1935 season with a schedule mirroring the previous season with games against North Dakota State and Nebraska to start the year. While the outcome was ultimately the same with the Golden Gophers netting two victories, the offensive production was not quite as stunning. After defeating NDSU 26-6, Minnesota traveled to Lincoln, Neb., to take on the Cornhuskers.

Nebraska showed improvement from the previous season when the Golden Gophers rolled over them 20-0. Minnesota headed into the second quarter trailing 7-6, but was able to put another touchdown on the board before the half to lead 12-7. Nebraska's defense was outstanding the remainder of the game and did not allow the Golden Gophers another touchdown. The Minnesota defense was just as stellar, however, and the Golden Gophers walked away from Lincoln with a 12-7 victory.

While Minnesota's offense was not putting up the same numbers as 1934, the Golden Gopher defense remained just as stifling. Against Nebraska the defense allowed only five first downs and 110 yards, so it was no surprise when Tulane ran into the same brick wall the next weekend in Minneapolis.

The visitors from Louisiana could do nothing right against Minnesota's superior defense, which held them to a mere 60 yards for the game. Minnesota's offense was still sputtering, however, as it managed only 183 total yards, all of them on the ground. The Golden Gophers beat Tulane soundly by a score of 20-0, but there was a bit of concern surrounding offensive production heading into the Northwestern game.

The last time the Golden Gophers played Northwestern was in 1933 when the two teams battled to a 0-0 tie. The result in 1935 was much the same and after three quarters Minnesota held a meager 14-13 lead. Northwestern threatened to move into scoring position late in the fourth quarter, but Wilkinson intercepted a Wildcat pass and returned it to the Northwestern 15-yard line. The Golden Gophers went on to score a touchdown and earn a hard-fought 21-13 win.

If there was any concern over the status of Golden Gopher football after the Northwestern game, Bierman's squad was quick to put it to rest. The Northwestern game was the turning point for Minnesota.

After Northwestern, the Golden Gophers went on to pound opponents by a total score of 115-20 and Beise scored five of his seven touchdowns for the season in those four games. The Minnesota offense seemed to be back on track, but it was tested one last time against the University of Iowa.

The Iowa game held a bit more importance for Minnesota than it had in years past. After the 1934 game in which Minnesota had knocked Iowa's star running back Ozzie Simmons out of the game, Iowa fans were livid and talks of post game mobs buzzed throughout Iowa City. Governor Clyde Herring expressed the same emotion and said, "If the officials stand for any rough tactics like Minnesota used last year, I'm sure the crowd won't."

This caused some concern for Minnesotans and Governor Floyd Olson. In attempt to cool tempers on both sides, Olson bet a prize Minnesota hog against a prize Iowa hog as a friendly gesture. So began the tradition of "Floyd of Rosedale," with the Golden Gophers winning a clean, hard-fought game 13-6 and Olson earning himself a prize Iowa hog.

Minnesota cruised through the remainder of its schedule, beating Michigan, 40-0, and Wisconsin, 33-7. Once again the Golden Gophers had wrapped up an undefeated season and also a national championship by beating the Badgers.

National Championships

1936 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Prior to the 1936 football season, the Minnesota football team had gone 24 games without a loss and won back-to-back national titles in both 1934 and 1935. Needless to say, a national championship trend had caught on at the U of M, so the goals for 1936 proved to be no different.

What was going to be different about the 1936 season was the level of competition that the Maroon and Gold would face. Instead of beating up on smaller schools in non-conference games, Head Coach Bernie Bierman added two tough games to the schedule. Rather than playing North Dakota State and Tulane, the Golden Gophers would travel to the University of Washington to take on the fifth-ranked Huskies, and then the University of Texas at home. The tough schedule combined with previous struggles the Golden Gophers had experienced against Northwestern and Nebraska, appeared to present a challenge for the two-time national champions.

Minnesota was set to open the 1936 season against Washington in Seattle, but it was a game that almost did not happen.

The Golden Gophers boarded the train in Minneapolis on Tuesday of that week for a four-day trip to the Pacific Northwest. Coach Bierman scheduled two practices along the way, one in Miles City, Mont., and one in Spokane, Wash., but it was a one-night stay in Missoula, Mont., that almost cost Minnesota its chance with the Huskies.

Asleep in the Florence Hotel in Missoula, the Golden Gophers were forced to wake up around 3 a.m. after it was discovered the building was on fire. The fire destroyed most of the hotel, forcing the team to return to the train for the remainder of the evening. Luckily, nobody was hurt in the disaster.

Once in Seattle, as expected, the game proved a tough one for Minnesota. The stadium was packed with 40,000 Washington fans cheering for the local team. The Huskies tied the Golden Gophers, 7-7, in the third quarter, but to no avail.

The play of Minnesota's Bud Wilkinson and Julian Alfonso proved too much for Washington. Wilkinson knocked down several Washington passes and kicked two extra points before catching a 60-yard pass to put the Golden Gophers in scoring position in the fourth quarter. Alfonso almost single-handedly shut down the Husky offense as he intercepted three passes at the goal line and led Minnesota's ground attack. As a result, Minnesota's win-streak remained in tact as they defeated Washington 14-7.

After narrowly escaping from Seattle with a victory, the Golden Gophers returned home to take on Nebraska the following week. With a grueling trip behind them and an improved Cornhusker team on the field, Minnesota had a difficult time with the second game of the year as well. Nebraska put up a valiant fight, but the Golden Gopher defense foiled the Cornhuskers who could not find the end zone in a 7-0 Minnesota win.

The first two games of the season had threatened Minnesota's win streak, but the next two games left no doubt why the Golden Gophers were the reigning two-time defending national champions. Minnesota romped over Purdue 33-0, and handed Michigan a 26-0 loss to bring home the Little Brown Jug for the third year in a row.

The two solid victories against Michigan and Purdue led into another huge game for the Golden Gophers at Northwestern. Northwestern was highly-ranked in the national polls and it appeared as if this game would determine the Big Ten and possibly the national champion.

Game day conditions were less than ideal as wind and rain persisted throughout the game, hindering ball movement by both teams. Neither team made a serious threat to score in the first half and all statistics were virtually even. The scoreless battle continued until the fourth quarter.

The Wildcats scored at the beginning of the fourth quarter, but failed to convert the extra point attempt. Minnesota put together three furious drives, all edging inside Northwestern's 20-yard line. The Golden Gophers were on the brink of defeat for the first time in 28 games. The Maroon and Gold saw their last chance slip away as a fourth down pass into the end zone was batted away with less than six minutes left. Minnesota's win streak was over. Northwestern dealt the Golden Gophers their first defeat in three years.

Minnesota came out of the Northwestern game with something to prove. They did just that. The Golden Gophers ripped through Iowa, 52-0, to bring home Floyd of Rosedale for the second consecutive time. They also crushed Texas, 47-19, and finished off the season against Wisconsin with a 24-0 victory.

Amazingly enough, even with a loss and no Big Ten Conference title, Minnesota was still voted the 1936 national champion. The Golden Gophers may have lost to Northwestern, but allowed only two other opponents to score. The thorough dominance Minnesota had demonstrated earned them an unprecedented third straight national championship.

After three straight national championships from 1934-36, the University of Minnesota suffered its first losing season under legendary coach Bernie Bierman in 1939 when it finished 3-4-1. The experience proved a humbling one for the Golden Gophers who were not accustomed to losing and the result was unpredictable. Minnesota rallied from a mediocre season to win its fourth national championship in 1940.

The Golden Gopher offense was highlighted by the dynamic running tandem of George Franck and Bruce Smith who, together, combined to score over 60 percent of the touchdowns for the Maroon and Gold. Smith starred by scoring winning touchdowns on three separate occasions, while Franck was named an All-American at the conclusion of the season — highlighted by his four touchdowns against the University of Iowa.

Before Minnesota could face a Big Ten opponent, they had to battle with such highly-touted non-conference teams as Washington and Nebraska. Fortunately for the Golden Gophers, both games were at Memorial Stadium.

Heading into the 1940 season, Minnesota had never lost to Washington. The Huskies were ready to change that. Though Minnesota was outplayed in nearly every offensive category, a combination of outstanding kick returns and tough defense allowed the Golden Gophers to squeak by 19-14.

The Golden Gophers were never supposed to get by the Huskies and defeating Nebraska the following weekend seemed even more unlikely. Nebraska knew about the outstanding two-touchdown performance Franck displayed against Washington. Minnesota would have little chance if the Cornhuskers could shut down the running game.

Nebraska's game plan worked wonders on Franck and Smith. What they had not counted on was the superb play of William Daley and William Johnson, who gained nearly 300 yards on the ground for the Golden Gophers. Minnesota's defense once again showed it was golden as it held Nebraska to only 25 yards on the ground. This took the Cornhuskers out of their game and vaulted Minnesota to a 13-7 victory.

Minnesota kept up its streak of close games when it defeated Ohio State 13-7. The Golden Gophers were soundly beaten on paper, and most likely would have been beaten on the scoreboard had it not been for the stellar play of Smith and his two touchdowns.

The next week, Franck finally broke open the Minnesota offense with his four touchdown performance in the Golden Gophers' 34-6 drubbing of Iowa. The celebration would not last long, however, as Minnesota next faced Northwestern — a team that had beaten the Golden Gophers for two straight seasons.

The way Minnesota was playing, Northwestern did not figure to be an overly difficult opponent. They were much improved, however, and the Golden Gopher — Wildcat game had a tradition of being battles to the end. From 1932 to 1949, no Minnesota — Northwestern game was ever decided by more than a single touchdown. The same held true in 1940 as the Golden Gophers edged out Northwestern 13-12. Were it not for two missed point-after attempts by the Wildcats, Minnesota's dream season may have been over.

If college football fans missed the Northwestern game, the game against Michigan proved to be a near carbon copy. Minnesota won, 7-6, once again as a result of a missed point-after attempt. Smith proved to be a major factor in the game as he gained 116 of Minnesota's 205 total yards and scored the lone Golden Gopher touchdown.

After winning two very close games against two quality Big Ten opponents, Minnesota headed into the final two games of the season excited about its chances of bringing a national championship back to Minnesota after a three-year absence. To do so, they would have to get by Purdue and Wisconsin. Neither team proved to be a match for the Golden Gophers as they beat Purdue 33-6, before defeating Wisconsin in the final game of the season, 22-13, to win their fourth national championship in seven years.

National Championships

After returning to the national spotlight in 1940, expectations for the 1941 Golden Gophers were high once again. On top of an already difficult Big Ten schedule, Minnesota had to go to battle once again with national powers Nebraska and Washington. But talk of another title flowed freely throughout Memorial Stadium.

The real superstar, and the key to Minnesota's national title hopes, proved to be Bruce Smith. While Smith was only the third leading rusher on the team, his outstanding play and attitude on the field earned him widespread recognition. He not only earned All-Big Ten and All-America status, but also became Minnesota's first and only player to ever win the Heisman Trophy. While Smith's individual accomplishments were among the greatest in Minnesota history, the fight that the Golden Gophers put up during the 1941 season was every bit as exciting.

Minnesota opened the 1941 campaign against Washington in Seattle. The Huskies had established themselves as a dominant force, and games between the two teams traditionally proved to be very close.

This season's match-up was to be more of the same. The Golden Gophers managed only 213 yards on the ground, 189 of them between Smith and Bill Daley. In the end it was the Minnesota defense who prevailed, smothering its opponent time after time as the Maroon and Gold escaped from Seattle with a 14-6 victory.

Minnesota opened its Big Ten schedule with the conference doormat, Illinois. As expected, the Golden Gophers rolled over the Orange and Blue 34-6. It proved to be a good preparatory game before another non-conference tilt against Pittsburgh.

Minnesota had not played Pittsburgh since the Golden Gophers won their first national championship in 1934. The Panthers gave Minnesota everything they wanted and more in 1934, but 1941 proved to be a different story. Minnesota dominated the Panthers in every aspect of the game. Despite fumbling the ball away four times, the offense racked up 39 points, while the defense stood strong by intercepting two passes and not allowing the Panthers a taste of the end zone.

After the Pittsburgh game, the Maroon and Gold headed into the meat of its schedule against Michigan, Northwestern, Nebraska, and Iowa. It was clear that if the Golden Gophers wanted to repeat as national champions that this stretch of the schedule would determine just how good the team truly was.

Michigan and Northwestern appeared to be the two greatest threats to Minnesota's title hopes. Both teams had established themselves among the best in the conference and historically had given Minnesota fits. History was on Minnesota's side, however, as they had emerged with victories in almost every close game in the past 10 seasons.

Michigan was looking to rain on Minnesota's national championship parade after the Golden Gophers had defeated them on Bruce Smith's lastminute touchdown the previous season. Michigan was able to contain Smith and Daley reasonably well, but in the end the Wolverine offense could not beat Minnesota's defense and the Golden Gophers squeaked out a 7-0 victory.

Northwestern wanted revenge much the same as Michigan since Minnesota had come away with a one point victory the previous season. Northwestern had luck on its side as Smith was injured and unable to carry the ball for the Golden Gophers. It appeared as if the elements were in line for the Wildcats to dethrone the reigning national champions. It was not to be however. Without Smith, Bud Higgins stepped up his game to gain 96 yards for the Golden Gophers and lead them to another exciting one point win over Northwestern, 8-7.

Minnesotans were somewhat concerned with their chances to win without Smith on the field. Against Iowa Head Coach Bernie Bierman chose to sit Smith out and not risk further injuring his knee. After one quarter, the Golden Gophers had not gained a single yard on the ground. Smith realized that if Minnesota was to win another championship he had to contribute. After convincing coach Bierman to put him in the game, Smith put the Golden Gophers in position to score three touchdowns. While Smith did not gain a large number of yards, he had helped to keep the Minnesota championship hopes alive.

The Golden Gophers closed out their season playing the University of Wisconsin. For the fifth time in eight years, Minnesota beat the Badgers to end the season and wrap up a national championship, making Bernie Bierman the winningest coach in school history.

1960 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The 1960-61 athletic season proved to be one of the most productive ever for the University of Minnesota Athletics Department. Swimmer Steve Jackman won the NCAA 100-yard freestyle while setting the American record, and the hockey team placed third at the NCAA Tournament. The crowning achievements, however, were the two national championships the school won. Baseball won its second national title in four years, while the Minnesota football team returned to national prominence by winning its sixth national title.

Murray Warmath entered his seventh season as the Minnesota head football coach on the heels of three consecutive losing seasons.

Expectations to start the season were not very high as the Golden Gophers were not ranked by a single news service. To add insult to pre-season injury, Minnesota lost to the alumni squad 19-7. The outlook for the 1960 season did not appear to be a bright one.

The Golden Gophers opened the season against Nebraska, a game which virtually no one gave Minnesota a chance to win. Minnesota surprised everyone, thanks to strong performances by All-America lineman Tom Brown and quarterback Sandy Stephens. Stephens completed 5-of-6 pass attempts and kept Nebraska pinned deep by averaging 40.1 yards per punt on seven boots.

Minnesota's 26-14 win over Nebraska did not quiet doubters in the least and was considered a fluke. The Golden Gophers headed into the Big Ten schedule with something to prove.

Minnesota opened the Big Ten season with an impressive 42-0 rout of Indiana. Minnesota's offense sputtered in the first three quarters, but exploded for four touchdowns in the final quarter — two within 60 seconds of each other.

The Golden Gophers next looked to a Northwestern team which had beaten them in each of the previous two years. It looked to be a good challenge for Warmath's undefeated team, especially since they had to contend with Northwestern's outstanding quarterback, Dick Thornton. Minnesota's offense stole the show the week before, and now it was the defense's turn to star against Northwestern. Tom Brown repeatedly leveled Thornton on rushing attacks and held him to minus-14 net yards rushing. When Brown was not stopping Thornton on the ground, he was forcing him into poor passing decisions as the U of M came away with a 7-0 victory over the Wildcats.

The Golden Gophers established their defense as among the toughest in the conference, but against Illinois the Golden Gophers flip-flopped positions and they took an outstanding offensive performance to wrap up the game. Stephens starred by scoring all three Minnesota touchdowns en route to a 21-10 win. Minnesota realized that they must play consistently on the offensive side of the ball in order to keep winning.

Warmath managed to get more consistency out of his offense the next three games, while the defense continued to stifle opponents. The Golden Gophers beat Michigan, 10-0, then went on to defeat Kansas State and Iowa, 48-7 and 27-10, respectively. Minnesota appeared to be rolling with only two games remaining in the regular season.

The Purdue Boilermakers were among the worst teams in the conference in 1960 and looked to pose little problem for the seemingly unstoppable Golden Gophers. Minnesota showed flashes of the alumni game, however, and was shocked 23-14 at Memorial Stadium. The loss was huge. It vaulted Iowa into first place in the major polls, and put Minnesota in a tie for first in the Big Ten. The Golden Gophers had a must-win game against Wisconsin to end the season.

The Badgers were also a fairly weak team, but there would be no repeat upset over the Golden Gophers in the final game of the season as Minnesota cruised to a 26-7 victory. Minnesota's win, coupled with an 8-1 record, earned them enough votes to take over first place from Iowa in both the final AP and UPI polls. The Golden Gophers had earned their sixth national championship and first-ever trip to the Rose Bowl in the process.

LITTLE BROWN JUG

Minnesota vs. Michigan

The story of "The Little Brown Jug," neither little nor brown, began at the turn of the century. The fabled "point-a-minute" Michigan football squads, coached by Fielding Yost, were destroying everyone in the nation, and had won 28 straight games heading into Minneapolis in 1903.

The pregame revelry pulsed through the campus. Minnesota had one of its best teams in school history and expected to give Yost's squad a run for their money. Before the game, students paraded across the field with various painted livestock, while fans filtered into the stadium from a constant stream of arriving streetcars. The 20,000 fans, positioned in bleachers, as well as atop trees and telephone poles, remained civil until the Gophers scored a second-half touchdown that tied the score at 6-6. At this point, fans stormed the field in celebration, causing pandemonium so great that the game had to be called with two minutes remaining on the clock.

On the morning following the contest, Minnesota custodian Oscar Munson carried an earthenware water jug to the office of L. J. Cooke, head of the athletics department. Munson pronounced in a heavy Scandinavian accent, "Jost left his jug." Still giddy from the tie, they decided to keep the prize, and painted on its side "Michigan Jug - Captured by Oscar, October 31, 1903," and the score, "Minnesota 6, Michigan 6." The Minnesota score appeared comically "as big as a house," dwarfing the Michigan score beside it. Yost sent a letter asking Minnesota to return the jug. Cooke wrote back "if you want it, you'll have to win it."

The two teams didn't play again until 1909. Michigan won the game that year, and Minnesota dutifully returned the jug. In 1910, Michigan left the conference, and Minnesota didn't have a chance to win it back until 1919. That year the Gophers, led by their star Arnie Oss, stormed into Ann Arbor and pounded the Wolverines 34-7 on their own Ferry Field. When Minnesota asked for the symbolic trophy at the end of the game, their rivals couldn't find it. But the Gopher players persisted, and Wolverine equipment man Henry Hatch came up with it after a short time, saying that he found it "overgrown behind a clump of shrubbery near the gym." Later, Minnesota historians said, "...but most likely it was found in a trophy case inside the gymnasium, easily dusted off and proudly brought back to Minnesota."

Cooke took out his paint brush again to paint that year's result. In the end, his two artistic attempts had taken up the whole surface of the five gallon jug, so when Michigan took it back the next year, the two schools decided to give the entire jug a colorful gloss. Now, the results of 86 games — including two in one season (1926) are embossed on its sides: 64 won by Michigan, 22 by Minnesota, and three ties. Due to the Big Ten's unbalanced schedule, Minnesota and Michigan did not face each other in either 1999 or 2000, breaking a consecutive streak of annual contests that dated back to the 1929 season.

After a 20-year absence, Minnesota returned the jug to its original home with a last-second victory over Michigan in 2005 in Ann Arbor. Following a 61-yard run by Gary Russell with just over a minute remaining, Jason Giannini hit a 30-yard field goal as time expired, giving the Gophers the 23-20 victory. In jubilation of their first win over the Wolverines since 1986, the Gopher players stormed the Michigan sideline to secure the prodigious prize.

Cooke once mused on the strange power within the stoneware crock, "I sometimes think that the jug has been filled with spirits, not alcoholic, but the disembodied spirits of the countless players who have fought for it on the gridiron..."

In many ways, the jug represents the history of college football. It overflows with historic battles for national and conference championships, and may indeed be filled with the spirits of gridiron men who went on to win Heisman Trophies and Hall of Fame honors. It is the most famous of all college rivalry trophies, and no other inanimate object comes close to the aura of tradition like the Little Brown Jug.

FLOYD OF ROSEDALE

Minnesota vs. Iowa

The states of Minnesota and Iowa battle it out every year in college football, when their teams face each other in one of the most emotional rivalries in the country. The winner of the game earns the right to keep the bronze statue of a pig called "Floyd of Rosedale."

The year was 1935, and emotions were running hot heading into the Minnesota-Iowa game. Bernie Bierman's Gophers were 5-0, and Ossie Solem's Hawkeyes were 4-0-1. Iowa had recently been reinstated to eligibility following a suspension for slush-fund violations, a suspension that had been ardently supported by a Minnesota representative. To make matters worse, Iowa fans still remembered the contest from the year before, when Minnesota players had roughed up Hawkeye star Ozzie Simmons so badly that he had to leave the game because of injuries.

The game in 1935 was at Iowa, and the host state had not forgotten either of the incidents. Iowa Governor Clyde Herring incited the fans and joined in the bitter feelings toward the state to the north and its football squad by saying, "If the officials stand for any rough tactics like Minnesota used last year, I'm sure the crowd won't."

Greatly alarmed, Minnesota's Governor Floyd Olson tried to cool the hot heads of fans on both sides of the border with his telegraphed answer to Herring. "Minnesota folks are excited over your statement about Iowa crowds lynching the Minnesota football team. I have assured them you are law abiding gentlemen and are only trying to get our goat...I will bet you a Minnesota prize hog against an Iowa prize hog that Minnesota wins."

The diplomatic tactic eased the tension, and the game was a hard-fought, but cleanly played, 13-6 Minnesota victory. More importantly, no mob of angry fans got involved in any postgame, extracurricular activity. The Golden Gophers brought home "Floyd of Rosedale," an award-winning prize pig which had been donated by Allen Loomis, the owner of Rosedale Farms near Fort Dodge, Iowa, and named after the Minnesota governor.

A few days later, Governor Herring collected Floyd and personally walked him into Governor Olson's carpeted office. About the same time, news surfaced that an Iowa fan had sworn out a warrant charging Herring with gambling. Olson good-naturedly offered asylum, but Herring declined. "I might have to go home and write out a pardon for myself," Herring joked.

Governor Olson later offered Floyd up as the grand prize in a state-wide essay-writing contest, which was won by 14-year old Robert Jones. Jones later sold the hog to the U of M. A year later, the University sold Floyd to J.B. Gjerdrum, a breeder who lived near Mabel, Minn., on the Iowa-Minnesota border, for "about $50" according to Gjerdrum. Sadly, in a death most unbecoming a figure of such stature, Floyd passed on to that great pigpen in the sky. As Gjerdrum noted, "We had him about a year. There was hog cholera around...One day he just leaned up against a straw pile and died."

The spirit of good sportsmanship embodied by Floyd lives on in the form of a 15 1/2-inch high, 21-inch long bronze statue of the prize hog. The sculpture was commissioned by Governor Olson and created by Charles Brioschi, a St. Paul artist.

Every year, since 1935, these two border-state rivals have fought for the right to pen the bronze pig in their own trophy case. During that span, Minnesota has won Floyd 38 times, Iowa has won 31, and there have been two ties. From 1983 to 2000, Minnesota and Iowa saved each other for the most important and emotional season finale slot. Every college football season, Minnesota and Iowa fight for "Floyd of Rosedale," a symbol of how interstate tension can be averted through athletic competition.

PAUL BUNYAN'S AXE

Minnesota vs. Wisconsin

At 117 games and counting, the series between Minnesota and Wisconsin ranks as the longest in Division I-A football; and "Paul Bunyan's Axe" has the history of one of college football's fiercest rivalries emblazoned on its six-foot long handle. The first game in the series, a 63-0 Gopher victory in 1890, is printed on the handle near the axe's head. The results of every successive game line the handle in red ink. There have been so many games that the scores scroll up and down the width of both sides of the handle, and school officials have now resorted to writing scores on the narrow edges of the six-foot shaft.

By 1930, "Paul Bunyan's Axe" wasn't even created, although the rivalry had already reached feverish levels. The 1906 game was canceled by President Theodore Roosevelt, who had decided to cool off heated college football rivalries, because of injuries and deaths on the field. In 1914, Minnesota faced the Badgers for the Gophers' first Homecoming game; likewise, Wisconsin hosted Minnesota for the Badgers' first in 1919. Between the years 1923 and 1925, the teams battled to three straight ties.

To symbolically capture the amazing atmosphere of the annual match-up, Dr. R.B. Fouch of Minneapolis fashioned a bacon slab out of black walnut to serve as the traveling trophy that he hoped would compare to the well-known "Little Brown Jug," which Minnesota and Michigan played for every year. The "Slab of Bacon," first played for in 1930, had a football carved on top inscribed with an "M" or "W", depending on how you held it. The idea was that the winning team would "bring home the bacon."

But in the early '40s, the Slab of Bacon became the "Missing Slab of Bacon." Peg Watrous, who was the president of Wisconsin women students at the time, relates that she and her counterpart from Minnesota were to have a symbolic exchange after the game, whereby the trophy would be awarded to the winning team. Minnesota won, but in characteristic fashion, a postgame melee broke out on the field, with students and spectators running crazy over the field. Watrous couldn't find her counterpart, and was left "holding the bacon," as it were. "I have no memory of what happened after that...The whole thing was a dud, as I feared it would be," Watrous remembered good-humoredly, "and someone in charge probably hid the bacon."

But the two teams had to play for something, so in 1948 the Wisconsin W Club instituted "Paul Bunyan's Axe" as a trophy more befitting the grand rivalry between the two schools. The annual battles have survived so long that in the '60s the teams started to print the games' final scores smaller and smaller, scrunching the letters in order to avoid reaching the end of the axe's shaft. But the series continued to roll, and the last game to be painted on the broad face of the handle was in 1980. The 25 subsequent games appear on the narrow side of the handle.

The Slab of Bacon was back in the news in the summer of 1994, when the long-lost trophy was found after a Camp Randall Stadium storage room was cleaned out. Wisconsin officials estimated that it had been missing since 1945; yet the scores of every Wisconsin-Minnesota game from 1930-70 were printed on the back of the slab. It is one of those Twilight Zonesque mysteries that remains unexplained, and contributes to the legend of Minnesota's and Wisconsin's "Border Battle" rivalry.

GOVERNOR'S VICTORY BELL

Minnesota vs. Penn State

Like Floyd of Rosedale, Minnesota's fourth and most recent traditional game trophy was founded by a pair of state governors.

Then-acting Governor Mark Singel of Pennsylvania and former Governor Arne Carlson of Minnesota established the Governor's Victory Bell on Sept. 4, 1993, the date of the first Minnesota-Penn State game. The contest, which took place at Beaver Stadium on the Penn State campus, not only marked the first game between the two teams, but also signified the inaugural Big Ten game for the Nittany Lions.

"As the Nittany Lions' initial conference opponent, Minnesota always will occupy a special place in Penn State football history, and we think it is appropriate to mark the occasion in this distinctive fashion," said Singel in 1993. "Governor Robert Casey was an early supporter of Penn State's move to the Big Ten Conference, and I know he looks forward to future conference games involving the Nittany Lions."

"Big Ten athletics has been a tremendously positive experience in the life of our state," said Carlson. "Minnesota's matchup against Penn State is a historic welcome to a school that will further enrich that experience for all of us. This trophy marks a very special occasion, and will allow us to remember it for years to come."

An artists' conception of the Governor's Victory Bell was presented by Singel and Carlson prior to the kickoff of that 1993 game, which Penn State won 38-20. The design of the trophy is a brass bell bearing the medallion of the Big Ten Conference, suspended from a wooden frame. At the top of the frame is a plaque which features the state seals of Minnesota and Pennsylvania, along with the following inscription:

Governor's Victory Bell

Presented annually to the winner of the Penn State-Minnesota football game Established

September 4, 1993

Governor Robert Casey, Pennsylvania

Governor Arne Carlson, Minnesota

At the bottom of the base, the Minnesota and Penn State athletics logos appear, along with individual brass plates for inscription of the scores of the games between the two teams.

After a two year hiatus between 1995-96, the battle for the Governor's Victory Bell returned in 1997 when Penn State earned a hard-fought 16-15 victory at Beaver Stadium. The 1998 game returned to the Metrodome for only the second time in the short history of the Bell, where the Nittany Lions earned a 27-17 win. Minnesota took the Victory Bell home for the first time in 1999 when the Golden Gophers scored a historic 24-23 upset over the second-ranked Nittany Lions at Beaver Stadium. In 2000, the Golden Gophers were again victorious, winning 25-16 at the Metrodome.

The Nittany Lions and Golden Gophers didn't meet in 2001 and 2002 and when the series renewed in 2003, the Gophers earned the right to keep the Bell with a 20-14 win in Happy Valley. Penn State claimed the bell for the first time in six years with their 44-14 win over Minnesota in 2005 and retained it with a 28-27 overtime win over the Gophers last season in the Metrodome. The two teams will not face each other again until 2009.

The addition of the Governor's Victory Bell to the Golden Gophers' list of traditional trophy games means that Minnesota now has four active "trophy" rivalries on its schedule, more than any other college football program in the country.

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The Pro Football Hall of Fame was officially opened on Sept. 7, 1963. Located in Canton, Ohio, the original two buildings that made up the Hall of Fame were 19,000-square-feet. Inducted that day were the first 17 members, including Minnesota's Bronko Nagurski. In May of 1971, the Hall of Fame became three buildings and 34,000 total square feet that featured more space for display areas, a movie theater, gift shop and research library. Visitor attendance reached 200,000 annually for the first time that year. Today, new displays and the Game Day Stadium showing the "100-yard Universe", an NFL Films production, adorn the Hall of Fame.

Currently, Minnesota has six former players who are enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. The most recent former player, Charlie Sanders, was enshrined August 4, 2007.

Nagurski is the only college player to be named a first team consensus All-American at two different positions before leading the Chicago Bears to three NFL Championships. He was inducted in 1963 as a charter member. Leo Nomellini was a three-time first team All-Big Ten player for Minnesota as well as a two-time All-American. He later went on to play for the San Francisco 49ers and played in every game of his professional career for 14 years. In 1970, he was named to the NFL's 25th anniversary team as one of the all-time great defensive tackles. He was inducted in 1969.

Bobby Bell was one of two Golden Gophers who brought the Outland Trophy to the U of M during his career. Bell won the award in 1962 before guiding the Kansas City Chiefs to two Super Bowls. Bell was inducted in 1983.

Bud Grant was an All-Big Ten end in 1948 and 1949 before he eventually became the head coach of the Minnesota Vikings. Grant coached the Vikings to 11 divisional titles and four Super Bowl appearances. He was enshrined in 1994.

Eller was a consensus All-American in 1963 and a three-time All-Big Ten selection during his U of M career. He went on to play 16 seasons in the NFL, 15 with the Minnesota Vikings. He was a five-time All-Pro and started at defensive end in four Super Bowls for the Vikings.

Sanders lettered for Minnesota in 1966 and 1967 as a tight end, earning All-Big Ten honors as a senior. He helped lead the Gophers to an 8-2 record and a share of the Big Ten title in 1967. Sanders moved to tight end as a senior where he caught 21 passes for 276 yards and two touchdowns. He was drafted by the Lions in the third round (74th overall pick) of the 1968 NFL Draft.

College Football Hall of Fame

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

A total of 17 former Golden Gopher players are enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame. They range from Edward L. Rogers, who scored the game-tying touchdown in the famous Little Brown Jug game against Michigan in 1903, to Bobby Bell, who brought the Outland Trophy to the University of Minnesota in 1962. Tom Brown in 2003 and Carl Eller in 2006 are the most recent University of Minnesota inductees.

South Bend, Indiana

In addition, three former Minnesota coaches, Bernie Bierman, Fritz Crisler and Henry Williams, have been inducted into the Hall as well.

The Hall of Fame moved from Kings Island, Ohio, to its current home in South Bend, Ind. The South Bend Hall of Fame opened in the summer of 1995.

The first members of the College Football Hall of Fame were selected in 1951. Today, there are over 800 players and coaches in the Hall.

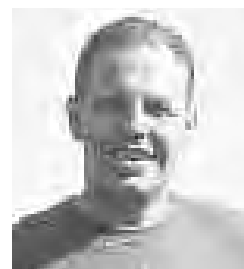

The Hall of Fame is a part of the National Football Foundation, which was conceived in 1947 by the late Grantland Rice. In addition to sponsoring the Hall of Fame, the Foundation has awarded more than $3 million in graduate school scholarships to college football players.

Robert Bruininks

university president

Robert H. Bruininks was appointed the 15th president of the University of Minnesota on November 8, 2002. He has served the University for 40 years, formerly as a professor, dean, and executive vice president and provost.

For the past three years, Bruininks has overseen a transformative strategic positioning effort at the University that has raised the bar considerably for the University's academic profile, its service to students and the community, and its stewardship of resources.

Already, the results of this intensive effort are visible. In the past academic year alone, the University has undertaken initiatives including:

- the adoption of aggressive new four-year graduation goals for each campus
- the development of student learning and development outcomes that clearly outline what all University students should know and be able to do at graduation, regardless of academic program
- the implementation of tuition reforms enabling many students to save significantly on the total cost of education
- the revision of the faculty tenure and promotion code to better recognize and reward outstanding scholarship in all its forms

"The University has undertaken significant reform in the context of an increasingly competitive global market for resources, talent, and ideas," Bruininks said. "Our vision is to improve lives through the advancement of knowledge, and our strategic goal is aspirational, audacious, and, I believe, achievable: to become one of the top three public research universities in the world, with a deep and abiding cultural commitment to excellence in everything we do, across all our campuses, research and outreach centers, and offices statewide."

Students and Affordability

Innovations in the University's student experience, such as expanded undergraduate research and study abroad opportunities, a campus-wide Honors Program for the Twin Cities campus, and an increased emphasis on enhancing teaching and learning, have helped to fuel high student satisfaction rates, increased applications and enrollment, and significantly improved graduation rates. With more than 65,000 students enrolled system-wide—including more than 50,000 on the Twin Cities campus alone—the University of Minnesota is one of the nation's largest.

Affordability for students here and at the University's four coordinate campuses remains a primary concern for the Bruininks administration. Launched in 2005, the Founders Free Tuition Program now covers full cost of tuition and required fees for low-income, Pell-eligible Minnesota students statewide. Once fully implemented, the award is expected to benefit 4,500 undergraduates across the University.

In addition, Bruininks has made student scholarships the University's top fundraising priority. The Promise for Tomorrow scholarship drive reached its initial goal of $150 million in October 2006 and has now raised roughly $210 million. Some 6,700 students received privately funded scholarships and fellowships last year; the University's new goal is to help 10,000 students with privately raised financial assistance.

Leadership and Experience

Bruininks's career has centered on child and adolescent development and policy research, and strategic improvement in the fields of pre-kindergarten to grade 12 and higher education. Initially joining the University's faculty as an assistant professor of educational psychology, he has authored or coauthored nearly 90 journal articles and more than 70 book chapters, as well as training materials and several standardized tests.

Both as a faculty member and as an administrator, Bruininks has worked to advance the public mission and responsibilities of the University. He has been a leading advocate for responsible stewardship and reform in higher education, including the strategic reorganization of University of Minnesota Extension and the colleges of Design; Education and Human Development; and Food, Agricultural and Natural Resource Sciences to better serve the state, its citizens, and students. He has renewed the University's commitment to its responsibilities, fostering new opportunities for public engagement and economic development through initiatives including the Council On Public Engagement (COPE), the Outstanding Community Service Awards, the University Metropolitan Consortium, the College Readiness Consortium, and the Academic Corporate Relations Center (ACRC), as well as enhancing the University's focus on issues of sustainability through research structures including the Initiative for Renewable Energy and the Environment (IREE) and Institute on the Environment, and through numerous administrative initiatives and reforms.

During his tenure at the University, Bruininks was instrumental in founding the National Center on Educational Outcomes, the Rehabilitation Research and Training Center on Community Living, and the Institute on Community Integration. He has been honored with numerous awards, including the Kellogg Foundation National Leadership Fellowship. He is president emeritus of the American Association on Mental Retardation and has been elected a Fellow of the American Psychological Association and the American Psychological Society. Nationally, he serves on the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board, and chairs the board of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges; in Minnesota he serves as a member of the Itasca Project and the Minnesota Business Partnership.

In 2007, Bruininks joined the NCAA Division I Board of Directors. He has also been instrumental in bringing Big Ten football back to the Twin Cities campus with the construction of TCF Bank Stadium, slated to open in Fall 2009. In addition to hosting home football games, the new stadium will provide a permanent home for the marching band, an important new venue for University and community events, and a prominent public gateway to the University's broader mission of education, research and public engagement.

Named Minnesotan of the Year by Minnesota Monthly in 2004, Bruininks regularly speaks on behalf of the University of Minnesota in its important role as the state's major research university. After shepherding the University through a nearly 15 percent cut in state funding in 2003, he has helped renew the partnership between the state and the University. With Bruininks as its chief advocate, the University has secured increased state funding for key academic priorities and capital projects each year since 2005.

In November 2005, Bruininks led a group of Minnesota educators to China as part of the governor's trade delegation. In May 2006, he headed a delegation of University leaders to Norway to renew student exchange agreements and deepen research ties with that country's leading universities, and in May 2007, he led a delegation to Iceland to renew an historic 25-year agreement with the University of Iceland and expand upon it, particularly in the health sciences.

Personal Notes

President Bruininks earned his bachelor of arts degree from Western Michigan University, and his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from George Peabody College (now Vanderbilt University's Peabody College of Education and Human Development). He and his wife, Dr. Susan Hagstrum, have three grown sons and three grandsons. In their free time, they enjoy riding American Saddlebred horses and spending time at their cabin on northern Minnesota's Gunflint Trail.

Joel Maturi

athletics director

Entering his seventh year as Director of Athletics at the University of Minnesota, Joel Maturi has transformed the Golden Gophers into a model NCAA Division I-A athletic department. A native of Chisholm, Minn., Maturi's leadership, vision and dedication has helped Minnesota achieve four major goals thought almost unattainable prior to his arrival: a merged department, a balanced budget, broad-based athletic success and the dream of returning Golden Gopher football back to campus.

Hired on July 12, 2002, Maturi became the first athletic director of the merged men's and women's athletic departments. He inherited a department that was projected to be $31 million in debt by 2008, planned to eliminate three sports and could only dream of Gopher football returning to campus. Since then, Maturi has guided a department that has operated with a balanced budget, retained the three sports and in 2009 Gopher football will be playing in the on-campus TCF Bank Stadium.

Maturi's tenure has been marked by continual athletic and academic success by his 25-sport department. His programs have accumulated four national championships, 24 Big Ten or WCHA regular season titles and five conference postseason crowns. Minnesota has also placed in the top 30 of the United States Sports Academy Directors' Cup final standing each year of his term, including during the 2007-08 campaign that saw the Gophers claim three Big Ten titles, advance 16 sports to post-season competition, produce 225 academic all-conference selections and 19 academic all-district honorees.

The 2006-07 season was a banner year as well as wrestling won its third NCAA championship in the seven years. The Gopher wrestlers were also one of six teams to take home conference championships. The men's swimming and diving team won its fifth Big Ten title in seven years and placed 10th at the NCAA Championships. The men's hockey team won the WCHA regular season and Final Five titles while the women's indoor track and field team won its first Big Ten crown. Rowing also won its first Big Ten title and posted a program-best sixth place finish at the NCAA Championships. Men's golf added its third Big Ten title since 2002 and posted a strong ninth place finish at the NCAA Finals. The football team reached a bowl game for the fifth consecutive season with a bid to the Insight Bowl in Tempe, Ariz.

The Gopher athletic department finished 20th in the Director's Cup in 2006-07, marking the 13th straight year that Minnesota has placed in the top 25 of the rankings that chart overall athletic success among all NCAA Division I programs.

During the 2005-06 academic year, Maturi guided a department that produced 32 All-Americans, four conference championships and 22 individual conference championships. Minnesota also produced 40 first-team All-Conference performers, five Academic All-Americans and 14 Academic All-District honorees. The Gopher wrestling and women's hockey team each finished second in the nation, while men's golf (3rd), women's cross country (9th), men's gymnastics (9th) and men's swimming & diving (11th) added four more top-15 national finishes.

Wrestling, women's gymnastics, men's hockey and women's track & field each won Big Ten Conference team titles. Overall, 16 of the Gophers' 25 sports finished in the top three of the conference during 2005-06, and 19 of the 25 teams advanced to NCAA postseason competition. The Gopher football team qualified for its fourth consecutive bowl game and sixth in the past seven years with a trip to the Music City Bowl.

The department also was involved in hosting several Big Ten, WCHA and NCAA Championships during the year, most notably the 2006 Division I Men's Basketball Minneapolis Region Championship and the 2006 NCAA Women's Frozen Four. Women's rowing had its highest finish ever at the Big Ten Championships, rowing to a second-place finish on Lake Phalen in St. Paul. The Baseline Tennis Center hosted the Big Ten men's tennis championships for the first time, while Ridder and Mariucci Hockey Arenas hosted women's and men's WCHA first round competition, respectively. In March of 2007, Minnesota became the first school to ever host the NCAA Men's and Women's Division I Swimming & Diving Championships in consecutive weeks. Across University Avenue, Williams Arena hosted the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball First and Second Rounds for the third time in four years.

In 2003-04, the women's hockey team won the national title for the second straight season while three women's programs (women's basketball, volleyball and women's basketball) all reached their respective NCAA Final Fours. Volleyball made the championship match and basketball qualified for its first national semifinal. The Gophers won four conference titles in 2003-04 and two conference postseason titles. In Maturi's first year as athletic director, Minnesota won five regular season titles while the men's hockey team won the WCHA Final Five and continued the momentum into the NCAA Tournament where it won its second straight national championship.

Academically, the Gophers had 222 student-athletes earn Big Ten All-Academic status during the 2006-07 academic year, the third most in the conference. During the past four seasons, the Gophers have placed 865 student-athletes on the conference's all-academic team, the highest four-year total in school history. Over 50 percent of Gopher student-athletes maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher and 27 student-athletes have earned Academic All-America status during Maturi's tenure. During 2006-07, over 400 student-athletes maintained a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better, a record for the athletic department.

During the 2004-05 academic year, Maturi was instrumental in adding credibility to the Gopher stadium campaign by negotiating a $35 million corporate sponsorship with TCF Bank for naming rights, the largest corporate sponsorship of its kind involving college football. Maturi's efforts were even more legitimized in May 2006 when the Minnesota State Legislature approved overwhelmingly to support the Gopher football return to campus. The bipartisan vote will allocate $137 million to the $288.5 million project.

In addition to TCF Bank Stadium, Maturi has been involved in numerous facility improvements the past few years, including upgrades during the 2005-06 academic year to the men's and women's basketball locker room and team arenas in Williams Arena and the football training and equipment rooms in the Gibson-Nagurski Football Complex. In March of 2007, Maturi oversaw the grand opening ceremony for a new boathouse that serves as the home of the women's rowing program on the Mississippi River.

And there's more on the way. Minnesota is in the early stages of creating a new home for Golden Gopher baseball and is expected to unveil plans for the new stadium soon.

Maturi, 63, increased his leadership role within the Big Ten and NCAA during the past few years by being named to several prominent committees, most notably the NCAA Division I Management Council. He has served as the Management Council's liaison to the NCAA Division I Student-Athlete Advisory Committee for the past year. Maturi is also served as a member of the NCAA Division I Men's Ice Hockey Committee, and will chair this committee during the 2007-08 season.

Prior to his arrival, Maturi was the Director of Athletics at Miami University (Ohio). At Miami, Maturi was responsible for the management and leadership of 19 sports programs, all support staffs and nearly 600 student-athletes. His first season at Miami was an extremely successful one. The synchronized skating team won a national championship, the men's basketball team reached the NCAA Sweet 16, the volleyball team earned its first NCAA Tournament win, the men's cross country team advanced to the NCAA meet and the football team won 10 games against an impressive schedule. That year, six teams won Mid-American Conference titles while five coaches garnered Coach of the Year honors.

During his tenure at Miami, Maturi spearheaded fund-raising efforts for two important and necessary projects. In his final year, the Walter L. Gross Jr. Family Student-Athlete Development Center was opened and a new baseball field, McKie Field at Hayden Park, was dedicated. Maturi also made an impact on the campus and the community in Oxford, Ohio. He was a recipient of a Campus Impact Award, received an award from the Butler County Board of Mental Retardation & Developmental Disabilities for his efforts to help those in need, the Miami Alumni Association's A.K. Morris Award for his service to the Association and the Myrtis Powell Building Community Award. In addition, he chaired the Central Collegiate Hockey Association (CCHA) executive council in 2001-02, and also served as the chair of the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship Committee for Region 4 and was the liaison for the men's basketball coaches in the MAC.

Prior to his time at Miami, Maturi served as the Director of Athletics at the University of Denver from 1996-98. At Denver, Maturi led the school's move from Division II to Division I and oversaw the search for Division I conference affiliation. Maturi also assisted in the planning and development of a $50 million Sports and Wellness Center and a $2.1 million tennis complex.

Maturi is no stranger to the Big Ten. From 1987-96, he worked at the University of Wisconsin. While there, he assisted in taking the financially challenged and struggling athletics program to profitability and success. From 1992-96, he was the Associate Director of Athletics with direct responsibility for all aspects of the football, ice hockey, wrestling, softball, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's rowing, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field teams, as well as the office of academic affairs. He also chaired the Department's "Support" Program, a wellness program for student-athletes and staff. Maturi was named the Wisconsin Sports Person of the Year in 1993.

Before entering the college ranks, Maturi spent 19 years as a high school coach and administrator at Madison Edgewood High School. He coached football, basketball, baseball and track and field, leading his teams to 10 state tournaments. Maturi was inducted into the Wisconsin Basketball Hall of Fame in 1992.

Maturi received a B.A. in government from the University of Notre Dame in 1967. He also served on the support staff of Ara Parseghian's first national championship team. He earned a master's degree and certification for educational administration from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville in 1985.

Maturi and his wife, Lois, have three grown children, Mark, Katie and Anne.

GOPHER SPORTS PROPERTIES

Gopher Sports Properties (GSP), a division of Learfield Communications Inc., is the official marketing & sales rights holder for University of Minnesota Athletics. Learfield Sports is a diverse media enterprise that manages multi-media rights for 35 of the country's premier collegiate athletic programs including the University of Minnesota. Learfield Sports specializes in managing, packaging and selling marketing and sponsorship opportunities connected with America's favorite collegiate teams.

Gopher Sports Properties provides a variety of advertising, marketing and promotional opportunities for corporate partners throughout the Twin Cities area and the state of Minnesota.

WCCO-AM 830 will serve as the flagship station for the Golden Gopher Radio Network again this season while Learfield will administer all production for the broadcasts, manage the on-air talent in addition to the sales for all broadcasts. Learfield partners with the Minnesota News Network (MNN) for network distribution to all of our greater Minnesota Affiliate Network.

WCCO has been broadcasting Golden Gopher Football every year since 1923 and Golden Gopher Basketball since the 1930s. WCCO is also in its sixth year as the radio home for the 2002 and 2003 national champion Golden Gopher Hockey program.

The play-by-play voice of the Gophers for the seventh straight season is Dave Lee. Lee is a six-time winner of the State Associated Press play-by-play award, including his call of the 2003 Sun Bowl victory over Oregon. Lee recently received the National Sportswriters and Sportscasters Award As Minnesota's Sportscaster of the Year for the second consecutive year and was also recognized by the Northwest Broadcast News Association for his play-by-play. Lee, the co-host of the popular WCCO Morning Show, served as the public address announcer for Golden Gopher Football for three years before stepping into the broadcast booth.

Dave Mona and Darrell Thompson will provide analysis. Mona is the chairman of Weber Shandwick Worldwide Minneapolis, a public relations firm. He is also a radio personality on WCCO, co-hosting the popular show "Sports Huddle" with Sid Hartman on Sunday mornings. Thompson, the all-time leading rusher in Golden Gopher history, also spent five years with the Green Bay Packers in the NFL. Thompson is currently the program manager for the Minneapolis Jaycees Charitable Foundation.

Mike Grimm, the voice of Golden Gopher Basketball, will host the pre-and-post-game shows. Grimm arrived in Gold Country in 2006 from KMOX Radio in St. Louis where he co-hosted the Chrysler-Jeep Sports Open Line – the nation's longest-running Sports Talk program. He was the lead weekday afternoon drive sports anchor and hosted pre-and post-game shows for the St. Louis Cardinals, Rams, Missouri Tigers and St. Louis Billikens.

WCCO also provides extended pre-game and post-game coverage of Golden Gopher Football. The pre-game show will start a minimum of an hour prior to kickoff and the post-game show will also run at least an hour in length.

WCCO Radio team of Darrell Thompson, Dave Lee and Dave Mona.
